Ethnicity and Race in a Changing World: A Race Review Journal

Ethnicity and Race in a Changing World: A Review Journal is a new free online international journal launching in January 2009.

The journal will be published twice a year on the Manchester University Press website and each issue will contain at least two peer reviewed articles. We are looking for new articles to feature and welcome submissions from you as soon as possible.

Submissions can examine any issues or experiences relating to race and ethnicity anywhere in the world. They should be between 6,000 and 8,000 words long.

If you would like to submit an article please contact the journal's editors, Emma Britain and Julie Devonald, for submissions guidance at:
